

European Bee-eaters are beautiful migratory songbirds. Their breeding ground covers southern Europe and northern parts of Africa. All bee-eaters have colorful plumage, and the European Bee-eater is no exception. In breeding-plumage males, upper parts are chestnut brown blending into gold; wings are rufous surrounded by blue and green. The throat is yellow and underparts blue.

European Bee-eater