

Hooded Warbler

Hooded Warblers are migratory New World warblers. They are named for the bold black hood of adult male birds. Hooded Warblers have olive upperparts and yellow underparts; males are usually brighter than females. The black cap and black throat form a hood around the adult male bird's bright yellow face.

See colors and learn more

