

Kirtland's Warbler

The Kirtland's Warbler is a small songbird in the warbler family. The species requires a specific habitat -- jack pine forest -- for breeding. Male Kirtland's Warblers can be recognized by their slate grey upperparts and yellow underparts. Females have similar, though duller, coloration.

See colors
and learn more

