

Lesser Flamingo

The Lesser Flamingo is the smallest type of flamingo out of the six global species. It is found in parts of Africa and India, and may be the most abundant species of flamingo, numbering somewhere around two million individuals.

See colors
and learn more

