

Red-shouldered Hawk

Red-shouldered Hawks are medium-sized hawks that live across much of eastern North America. Their body plumage is mostly brown, with reddish barred chests and reddish patches on the shoulder. Their tails have thin white bars and they have yellow legs and feet.

