

Slender-billed Vulture

The Slender-billed Vulture is a critically endangered species of Old World vulture. They have dark necks, heads, and beaks. The body plumage is made up of different shades of tan and grey. The ear opening, behind the eye, is obvious.

