

White-headed Vulture

The White-headed Vulture is an Old World species that lives in parts of Africa. It has a bright pink-orange beak with a grey-blue base. The bare head is pink; the bird is named for the downy white feathers across the back of the head and nape.