

White-naped Crane

The White-naped Crane is found in parts of Mongolia, China, and Russia. They can be recognized by their dark grey body plumage contrasting with a white stripe along the neck. The wings are a silvery-grey and they have a reddish facial patch.

See colors
and learn more

